Event Time Management

Complete automation versatility

The product's versatility makes it ideal for environments such as retail stores, museums, and schools. Its extensive range of ports enables the management of audio, video, lighting, and home automation signals.

Web-Based Standalone Event Manager

No external application is required. Our manager features a built-in web interface that can be accessed from any web browser on any compatible device.

The unit is equipped with dedicated ports for Audio, HDMI Video, GPIO, RS232, and RS485. The output ports execute the events scheduled in the calendar, while the input ports allow for the triggering of pre-programmed events.

Integrated Time Event Manager

We are introducing a calendar-based event manager to our catalog. Users can schedule a wide range of actions within the internal calendar, including audio and video events, as well as serial and Ethernet commands.

Additionally, the system can receive external triggers to launch pre-programmed events based on specific external signals and conditions.
